

C*A*M*P*

2008

THE C.A.M.P. UP-BEAT

FRIDAY'S MENU

BREAKFAST
OATMEAL
CINNAMON TOAST

LUNCH
SMORGASBORD

DINNER
CHICKEN

GOSSIP

BY SHORTY

- Ashley Cox was attacked by a flame throwing bear
- Curtis F from cabin 7 sings opera in the shower
- It's been rumored that Karen O. has been seen trying to climb up the chimney to come down like Santa Claus
- "Pookie" saw Campie on hill 4
- Bacon secretly loves to sing and dance

VOLUME 1 ISSUE 4

Thursday, August 7, 2008

MUSIC VESPERS

BY LYNNETTE MATHEWS

The hills were truly alive with the sound of music last night at music vespers. So many talented campers and staff stepped forward to bring praise in the form of music. Every performance related directly to the theme "Find your music" and demonstrated it perfectly. Kristen and Kaylee stepped up to the plate first. Kevin brought an awesome rap for Jesus to the camp and showed praise comes in all forms of music. The final act of the night ended with the grads singing the meaningful "Good Riddance" ending with tears and long embraces. It was a very heart warming and solemn night of rejoice and praise.

THURSDAY CHAPEL

BY ADENA WISE

Yesterday's chapel had a wonderful meaning. Presbyterian Pastor Clint Tolbert came with his shortest speech ever (and I should know, I attend his church). He related to the kids through his own high school experiences. His message was to follow your own music even when you don't think that you can.

PINE LAKE- - SEA OF GALILEE

BY JANNY BRIZIUS

Late Wednesday evening after a full day of riotous fun, including an island picnic and a very creative stunt night, we all found our way to the lake where Jim Schnell asked us to imagine that the beautiful star filled sky was actually that same sky 2,000 years ago and Pine Lake was actually the Sea of Galilee in that same time frame. Slowly in the silence, a boat appeared and Pastor Mike recreated the teaching of Jesus. God added blessing to the service with a luminous shooting star streaking across the sky. What a beautiful time travel experience!

YOUR 2008

NEWSPAPER STAFF

LYNNETTE MATHEWS
ADENA WISE
JOSH MAUST
KATIE LAMBERT
SHEILA "SHORTY" Z
JANNY BRIZIUS
BECCA WISE
LISA KRUSE

Bugmasters Make Bid for Political Influence

By Josh Maust

The Bugmasters Doug and Bob, heretofore referred to as “The Bug Juice Barons”, have ruled over the majority of Bug Juice distribution for many years. With a powerful public relations campaign, they have gained a powerfully positive appearance to the majority of the C.A.M.P. public. However, there is a darker side to these so-called benevolent rulers of the Bug Juice Empire. Now that the Bugmasters have taken a powerful role in Mary Schnell’s bid for C.A.M.P. president, it is a very serious matter to investigate the true motives of the Bug Juice Barons.

Mary Schnell supports Bug Juice drilling to allow a greater supply of Bug Juice throughout future years of C.A.M.P. This drilling is a complicated process, as it requires finding a large underground pocket of bugs to drill into juice. The Bug Juice Barons, being the only Bug Juice-related entity with the ability to perform the drilling process, would gain 100% of this new Bug Juice supply and 100% of the new profits. This would be a massive hit to smaller Bug Juicers, family businesses that have been meticulously juicing bugs by hand for generations. There is no evidence to suggest that Bugmaster Doug has ever had the honor of crushing bugs in his hands to extract the delicious juice. It is already true that the highly automated process of the Bug Juice Barons gives them a large advantage over their smaller, hand-juicing competitors. Do we really want a world in which 99% of our Bug Juice supply is ruled over by a single superpower?

This reporter says “I guess maybe not?”, and expects the whole C.A.M.P. to take up the same level of passion and indignation. We need to stop the influence of Big Bug Juice. This reporter, personally, supports Mark See’s plan to replace Bug Juice with a Coca-Cola based alternative juice. This reporter does not, however, support the candidate’s atrocious pants.

STUNT NIGHT

BY KATIE LAMBERT

Stunt night was a hit! It was non-stop laughs. Everything from singing and dancing to hilarious commercials and videos. Not to mention the oh-so wonderful and refreshing makeovers that were given to Flash, Howie, Josh, and Dave. It just goes to show...CAMP has talent!

